FileFacets Establishes Partnership with Information Governance Integrator GEN3i

GEN3i Inc., a leading information governance integrator, has formed a deep partnership with FileFacets to serve as a Development Partner, Solutions Provider and Systems Integrator of FileFacets products.

Washington DC, January 29 2016—GEN3i Inc., a leading information governance integrator and solution provider, announced today that they have established a partnership with FileFacets, a leader in information governance and enterprise content management (ECM) enhancement tools. GEN3i will serve as a development partner and act as a reseller and systems integrator to FileFacets clientele.

“Regulatory and compliance demands are driving an increasing number of content management projects. Our goal is to help clients meet those demands with minimal time and effort on the part of the employees,” said Chris Perram, CEO of FileFacets. “GEN3i is helping us quickly develop support for multiple platforms and they are adding tremendous value by delivering integrated solutions.”

Organizations implementing ECM solutions often make the mistake of propagating existing content problems into their new ECM. FileFacets eliminates this issue by performing a detailed content analysis prior to data migration. Under the new partnership, GEN3i will develop connectors to several content management systems, which further automates and simplifies the process.

“Our team is playing a key role in developing integration between FileFacets and several 3rd party tools,” said Patrick Vaughan, CEO of GEN3i. “Our current development work enables connectivity to a variety of ECM tools which will help FileFacets continue to expand their already growing customer base. We are extremely excited about the partnership and taking these integrated solutions to market.”

For customers to gain the most value from their ECM systems, they must be able to apply metadata and content structure before migrating into the platform. Building on their experience in developing connectors for other eDiscovery and IG vendors, GEN3i is helping FileFacets quickly expand platform support. The companies anticipate announcing several new integrated solution offerings in the next few months.
